

A liveable and lovable district

The District of Gütersloh has a lot to offer! The 13 towns and municipalities in the District are as diversified and distinct as their 356,000 inhabitants.

Nature lovers are especially fond of the forests, fields and the Ems river. A cycling network of 1,000 km and countless hiking trails make sure you never feel bored. Or perhaps you prefer relaxing with a cup of chocolate in a farm café or visiting one of the numerous events such as the Gerry Weber Open or the Serengeti Festival.

The website www.erfolgskreis-gt.de provides all important information on your pilots and god-fathers as well as the dates for the regulars' table. Additionally, you can learn everything about business, recreation, family culture and honorary offices in the District of GT.

Werther

The town is located in the Ravensberg hill country on the northern slope of the Teutoburg Forest in the District of Gütersloh. Bielefeld University is just 10 km away. The traffic-calmed town centre has some well-preserved timbered houses in which neat little specialised shops offer an exquisite shopping atmosphere.

The Teutoburg Forest with its many hiking trails starts directly at the doorstep. Werther (Westphalia) has various government schools. Moreover, Werther (Westphalia) is the hometown of the late painter and sculptor Peter-August Böckstiegel.
